

NFL DRAFT/TEAM EVALUATIONS

	2010	NEW YORK JETS GRADE: C
PICK NO.	PLAYER	COMMENTS	POSITION	HEIGHT	WEIGHT	SCHOOL
29	KYLE WILSON	A solid CB who has the knack for the big play, and is an absolute pest, with an attitude. Sounds like a REX kind of guy. He will also bring big value as PR in the absence of LEON.	CB/RS	5'10	195	BOISE STATE
61	VLAD DUCASSE	A Pick with a ton of upside, but if they are counting on him to replace FANECA right away it could ruin him. His small school experience will not translate quickly enough for that job. I think his foot speed is questionable & he'll have to stay inside.	OG	6'4	330	UMASS
112	JOE McKNIGHT	He should make a very nice replacement for LEON WASHINGTON. He's not as fast as LEON, but has better size and has lots of shake-and-bake ability.	RB	5'11	200	USC
139	JOHN CONNER	REX likes to have a FB on his roster, and CONNOR will be a good one. He has decent athleticism and is football smart. He should be able to replace TONY RICHARDSON... soon.	FB	5'11	245	KENTUCKY
Trade	SANTONIO HOLMES	If they can keep HOLMES on a short leash he could be a dynamic weapon for SANCHEZ. Talent is not an issue, and he is still only 26 years old.	WR	5'11	190	OHIO STATE

When you throw SANTONIO HOLMES into the mix this DRAFT looks really good. The only thing that is worrisome if you are a JETS fan is the fact that after having only 3 Picks in last year's DRAFT, they back it up with only 4 selections this year. History says that over an extended period of time such wheeling and dealing that leads to small infusions of young talent strips a roster of its depth, and hungry young players. Being all in for now is admirably, but there must be a long range plan in place to sustain success. It's a decent enough DRAFT for the JETS, but don't be trying to puff up smoke screens to convince me it was top notch. It was nothing special overall.
